Member Management

What are the default member types in Biznomos?

Biznomos has three different default member types: Main, Editor, and Admin.

A Main member type is the default member type for all Biznomos members and refers to all general members of your association group. An Editor member type only has access to the Web Builder portion of the member area, letting them manage the organization's website. Lastly, an Admin member type has access to everything Biznomos has to offer, including the Admin Tools tab, giving them control over managing the overall organization and managing the organization's website.
